

HOPE OF WORLD IS RESTORATION OF FREE ENTERPRISE

Senator Edward Martin Stresses Such Need In United States

AT TEXTILE DINNER

Penna.'s Senator Appears Before Phila. Textile Institute Foundation

The hope of the world is the restoration of the free-enterprise system in the United States, Pennsylvania's Senator Edward Martin told the Philadelphia Textile Institute Foundation meeting last night in Philadelphia.

The text of Senator Martin's address follows:

It is a pleasure to attend this dinner of the Philadelphia Textile Institute Foundation tonight. Philadelphia is one of the world's great cities and its far-flung textile industry has contributed substantially to that greatness.

At a time when so many of the world's people are being led astray by the false gods of new ISMS, I like to remember that Philadelphia and your industry were both nurtured by our American free enterprise system. You Philadelphians and you businessmen should hammer home this lesson to those inclined to follow the Pied Pipers of total government controls. They call their siren song complete security. They promise protection from the cradle to the grave. All they ask in return is the hard-won freedom and initiative of the people—the hardest things to win and to keep in all the universe.

Wherever such a trade has been made, the people have done their part. They have surrendered their priceless privileges. But they have not received what they bargained for. Under Hitler, under Mussolini, under Stalin—under their predecessors throughout history—the people have wound up without freedom, without initiative—and without the total security which was to have taken the place of the other two.

Consider the international social and economic picture. The three most powerful nations of the world are advancing three different economies as the cure of the world's ills. Russia is conducting its affairs under a total communistic economy. Men, haggard by chaos, hunger and fear, are willing victims of the Red Pied Pipers whose tune is: "Let Superman do it and he will take care of you." This is the same Russia whose living standard is lower even than under the Czar. The culture and good things now possessed by that country were largely acquired under the former regime. The Russian Superman talk of abolishing poverty. But they have made all their countrymen poor.

Great Britain is experimenting with a milder socialistic economy. The people of England are in a deplorable condition. Incentive is gone. They turn more and more to the government, and government proves again that it is helpless unless the people will work and sustain themselves. That is the land which fashioned the Magna Carta and other milestones of freedom. It is its ultimate end the surrender of these freedoms in the hope of security from a bureaucratic central government? We can only hope the tide will turn before it is too late.

We are the third great nation. Our economy is based on free enterprise. Thus far, our answer to all siren songs has been: "We will take care of ourselves. We shall do it with the minimum of necessary aid from our government. We shall

HERE AND THERE IN BUCKS COUNTY TOWNS

Activities of Interest To All in The Various Communities

GLEANED BY SCRIBES

A former Bucks county school boy, Dennis Flanagan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Braymer, of Lahaska, has been advanced to the position of managing editor of "The Scientific American," of which he also has become part owner.

Flanagan, who maintains his home with his parents, at Lahaska, previously was scientific editor of "Life," a position he has relinquished to take up his new duties.

After attending Buckingham Friends School, Mr. Flanagan attended Doylestown High School, from which he was graduated in 1936.

For violations of the motor code, a 60-year-old Bucks county school teacher, a 72-year-old Philadelphia woman driver and a 17-year-old truck operator, all of whom figured in automobile crashes in Solebury township over the week-end, were arrested.

Following a two-car accident at Phillips Mill on Sunday, Elsie E. Wolfstrom, 69, of New Hope, was arrested on a charge of driving her car left of the center of the highway.

Miss Wolfstrom's car crashed into a car driven by James Campiciano, 63, of Center Bridge. Damage to the cars was estimated at about $120.

Robert Groff, 25, Quakertown, R. D. 1, a World War II veteran, was severely injured when the motorcycle he was riding figured in a collision with an automobile on Fifth street, in Perkasie.

The victim of the accident was taken to Grand View Hospital, where he is receiving treatment.

A SUMMARY OF THE NEWS

Americans must save enough food—about one bushel per person—in the next nine months to send an additional 100,000,000 bushels of bread grains to Europe, President Truman told his Citizens Food Committee yesterday. We are a "granary of hope," he said, and must cut our use, cut out waste and "get prices down and help hungry people in other countries at the same time." The President, Chairman Luckman of the committee and Secretary Marshall will join in a radio appeal to the nation Sunday night.

"Political groups that hope to profit by unrest and distress" are trying to capitalize on food and fuel shortages abroad the President said in letters to the chairmen of four key Congressional committees. He asked that the groups be called "at the earliest possible date" to prepare legislation for stop-gap relief, which Under-Secretary of State Lovett estimated might reach $300,000,000.

The current inflationary price situation demands remedial action by the Government, the President's Council of Economic Advisers reported. Grain and livestock quotations climbed higher, milk went up a cent a quart and vegetables joined the advance that carried prices nearly to last month's peak.

UNUSUAL COURAGE AND INTEGRITY REQUIRED ON PART OF LEADERS IN SCHOOL AND HOME IN AIDING 'TEEN-AGE GIRL, SAYS ST. MARY'S HEADMISTRESS

DREXEL HILL, Oct. 2.—The teen-age girl of today lives in a world of violently conflicting philosophies and sharp contrasts, and unusual courage, integrity and faith are required of her leaders in schools and homes if she is to aid in saving our Western world from ruin. Florence Lukens Newbold, headmistress of St. Mary's Hall, Burlington, N. J., last evening told members of the Parent-Teachers Association of the Sunday School of the Church of the Holy Comforter, here.

Stating that the changed environment of the present-day girl both invites reckless experimentation and risk, and calls forth the highest ideals on which character and government can be based, the Burlington, N. J., educator called for more of what she termed "creative leadership" to develop in girls the knowledge of a way of life in which the highest and best in personal character and world understanding can be expressed.

The Sunday School of the Church of the Holy Comforter is one of the few in the country which has a Parent-Teacher Association and Miss Newbold spoke at the opening monthly meeting for this year. The meeting was arranged by the Rev. Richard S. Bailey, rector; James Kennedy, president of the Parent-Teacher Association of the Sunday School, and Russell S. Wilkin-

L-M IS REPRESENTED AT MANY COLLEGES

All Langhorne-Middletown
'47 Graduates Who Applied Are Accepted

LANGHORNE, Oct. 2.—All of last year's Langhorne-Middletown high school graduates who made application for admission to college have been accepted, Dr. Oliver Heckman, supervising principal of schools, announced. Some were not enrolled in the institution of their first choice. Among the schools represented by the 1947 graduates are Ursinus, State Teachers College, West Chester, Kings, and State Teachers College at Stroudsburg.

Graduates of former years are enrolled in Bucknell University, Elizabethtown, University of Pennsylvania, Temple, Beaver, Drexel, Penn State, and Rutgers.

Dr. Heckman states:

"Students whose scholastic standing has been in the upper third of the graduating class have encountered no difficulty in being admitted to institutions of their first choice. Those whose grades are lower have found it necessary to apply at a number of institutions before being admitted. In this period of keen competition for college admission it is particularly important that the student who anticipates furthering his education in an institution of higher learning should have high grades in all his studies. It is also important that those looking forward to college should be well-prepared."

STUDENTS MAY STUDY LOCAL HISTORY

Five Hundred Eighth Grade Pupils To Develop
Project

SET DATES FOR TESTS

Five hundred Bucks County 8th grade pupils may develop a project on study of local history, government, and geography and submit the results in place of taking a county eighth-grade history and geography examination next spring. The County Office Staff announces this morning.

In an attempt to further encourage the study of the local community as a part of the county-wide program began two years ago, the county supervisory staff is offering this special inducement to teachers and students. Dr. Genevieve Bowen is in charge of the Social Studies program which includes government, history and geography.

In order to stimulate interest in home safety, the eighth grade pupils may substitute a poster on fire prevention in the home developed some time during the term in lieu of taking an examination in art. Paul Gruber is in charge of the safety program in the schools.

On May 7, 1948, the county tests in arithmetic, reading, language, spelling and written English will be given. On May 17, 1948, county tests on science, safety, health, music and literature will be administered. For all pupils not preparing safety posters, an art test will be given on May 17. All pupils not preparing a special community project will also take a social studies test on May 17.

The purpose of these county-wide tests are: To give the teachers and county staff a common basis for a co-operative approach to the school problems, including the curriculum. To assist in the classification of ninth grade pupils. Pupils in the non-high school districts are admitted to high school upon the recommendation of the county superintendent.

RETAILER BLUES
In this price boom cycle the retailers of America are having troubles. Marked up prices lack much of being undiluted
by them.
A nationwide survey shows that while dollar sales are approximately equal to last year, it sales are down 5 to 15 per cent. The consumer hasn't the money to meet rising costs.
As unit sales decline, the retailer is adopting a policy of caution. Inventories in many cases only one-half of the figures of a year ago. But this can't solve the problem because margins of profit are being reduced.

Often the manufacturer will use an item and insist that the retailer hold to the former price.
Retailers themselves are doing their mark-ups as low as possible in an effort to avert buyer distaste. Items that soar sharply are frequently being boycotted by summers.
While this is going on and programmers shrink, the cost of rating a retail store continues to climb. Such items as selling, tying and warehousing have mounted 10 to 20 per cent in the year.
Retailers would welcome lower cost levels as conducive to greater volume of turn-over and more profitable operation. But, as one retailer says, how can manufacturers lower prices when the consumer demand a raise every six months?

to produce qualified material from which to build the ranks of regular Army officers.
This is an opportunity worth considering by all members of the Academy who can meet the requirements. The field is wide open.
Every enlisted man who can qualify will be given an opportunity to take the requisite examination.
The only conditions are that he must be a citizen of the United States, between 19 and 22 years of age, unmarried, and a high school graduate.

Andalusia Girl Scout Mothers Meet, Organize

ANDALUSIA, Oct. 2—The mothers of girls in the Andalusia Girl Scout Troop have organized an auxiliary for the purpose of sponsoring the troop. They held their first meeting in the Scout Cabin on Sept. 24th. The officers of the new association are: Mrs. E. Rupp, president; Mrs. Harry Osterman, vice-president; Mrs. M. Kiefer, treasurer; and Mrs. H. Beldin, secretary. The aim of the club is to provide transportation, equipment, such as uniforms, etc., and also to send worthy girls to camp who could not otherwise afford to belong to the troop. Inasmuch as this is a non-profit organization each month a different project will be completed to raise funds. The money raised in these projects will also go toward buying ground and building a Scout cabin, it is stated.

The Girl Scouts held their meeting in the Cabin earlier the same evening, with Mrs. James Wright in charge, and Mrs. James Doneker assisting. The Rev. Herman Doh, of Andalusia Baptist Church, gave a lecture, with slides, on astronomy. A discussion and question period followed. Twenty-four girls were present. It was announced that Mrs. Towle will give a nine weeks course in first aid. Bucks Co. Rescue Squad will supply the equipment needed, such as bandages, etc. The All Bucks County Girl Scout Rally was participated in by Andalusia Girl Scout Troop at Bowman's Hill on Saturday. Mr. Fleming provided a truck in which to transport the girls and leaders. Mrs. Buckingham guide, gave a short talk on the trails in the locality and then conducted the girls on a hike. C. M. Porter was the program chairman. The girls provided their own lunches.

SUNDAY DINNER Suggestions

PEARS are a fruit with a long and honorable history produced by trees that span the globe. Centuries of cultivation have resulted in more than a thousand varieties ranging from the small Seckel to the succulent Bartlett.

Our pears are of two chief types, the European pure breeds and hybrids and the ornamental Chinese or sand pear.

The European pears, cultivated in the United States from early colonial days, include the Bartlett and the Anjou which are under cultivation in the northeast and north central states and on the West Coast. The best known European hybrids are the Keiffer and Le Conte, both in the East and the South.

The Bartlett is the best pear for commercial cultivation, being of good flavor, color and size. It keeps better than most table varieties and is well adapted for consumption fresh or canned.

Unlike most fruits, pears are improved in flavor by ripening indoors. They are best when gathered just as they are beginning to color and when fully developed in size and shape. If taken at this time, before they begin to soften, they can be held for a long time in cold storage.

According to the A & P Service for Home Makers, the uses of pears are many. Aside from eating them raw, they are excellent baked, as one bakes an apple, served as a base for innumerable salads, pickled, stewed and preserved, candied, canned, stuffed or used as a garnish for almost any roast. Pears have even found their way into tapioca and other forms of pudding.

For a delicious fall Sunday dinner, try baked ham, with mashed potatoes, pear and cherry salad, string beans, hot biscuits, and for dessert, baked apple and a beverage.

not barter away our freedom and our initiative."

We have great production because a man has the incentive to work. Here he can earn according to his skill and the honesty of his effort. That must continue. The greatest argument in favor of our system is that all the world is looking to the United States for help. They need food, clothing and shelter. In the postwar period, even Russia—whose overall natural resources are probably greater than our own, whose population is larger, and which boasts that its system is better—has stood in line before Uncle Sam's paying teller. What more need be said than that?

It is true that many of the countries suffered heavy loss of life and monumental property damage during the war. We recognize this. But we, too, had our losses. Our young men sleep in foreign soil. We piled up the biggest national debt in history to supply munitions and food for our allies. Unlike some foreign nations we shall pay that debt—and in the sweat and toil of all our people. We consumed ore, coal, oil and other priceless resources which can never be replaced.

Like our forefathers, we do not shrink from work. We shall continue to advance, regardless of our war losses.

The other nations must re-learn the lesson of work and self-help. Only that way can they recover. Spoon feeding could never be the solution, even if we were willing indefinitely to drain our irreplaceable resources and increase our debt.

We must watch the trend toward totalitarian ideas, not only abroad but in our own country as well. The American free enterprise system is on trial because there are those who would destroy it. There are many ways in which it can be destroyed, if we should become careless. Among these are excessive government interference, price fixing, and other monopolistic tendencies which grow out of fear of competition.

We should work toward the time when all of our economy can stand on its own feet. In the meantime we should keep to a minimum of subsidies, ceilings, grants and price supports, save for infant industries or during a critical emergency.

Watch the trend of government. It is being centralized to a continually greater degree. Don't forget that when we receive something from government, we pay the price in surrendered freedoms. Government should protect the public through such limited regulations of business and labor as the anti-trust laws and existing labor legislation. It should support experimental laboratories for the benefit of all the people. It should not go much further than that.

America has moved ahead and conquered new frontiers by improved methods. Right now the greatest blow that can be struck against high prices and resultant inflation is more production. This involves even better techniques, more skillful workmen, more efficient management, and better tools. Generation after generation we have met the challenge. We have met competition head-on. As a result we have been able to give our people as necessities of life many things which other countries have considered luxuries.

Under our system, the people own more automobiles, better household appliances, more food and clothing than any other nation in the history of the world. These and other benefits have not interfered with high cultural and spiritual attainment. I have no use for the sneering, inferiority complex Americans who claim that because the American housewife operates with less drudgery than those in Europe or Asia, she is further from God or from culture.

We have come a long way, but we must continually improve our methods. During the past few days I have seen certain imported goods—carved woodwork, decorated glass and china. They have been brought in at a price far below what those goods could be produced for under the American wage standard. We have an answer to cheaper labor.

It is not to cheapen our own labor. It is to better our methods. That is why we are here tonight. We are meeting in connection with the development of new skills and new methods for a great Philadelphia industry.

More than a century and a half ago, Philadelphia became interested in diversity of industry. Textile production in particular has had the attention of the best business minds in this part of the United States. Philadelphia, always a leader in the manufacture of textiles, is today the largest diversified textile center in the world.

Nationally, the textile industry and its adjunct, the apparel industry, employ more people than any other. In whole value of the product, textiles rank second. Eighty-five per cent of all the textile manufacturers employ fewer than 500 persons per factory. This enables many small communities to enjoy an industry which will give employment to its people. In the large communities, it permits a diversity of employment, which strengthens the economy of the area.

In Pennsylvania there are 3,150 individual textile concerns, with an annual payroll of $430,000,000, and pre-war product value of $1,385,579,000. Today the figure is much greater.

Philadelphia has 1,400 individual textile establishments which employ, in total, more persons than any other industry in the city. One cannot too strongly emphasize the importance of the industry to the city and to the state.

Some people feel that, because it is made up of so many small units, the textile industry is backward. On the contrary, this is its greatest strength. It gives it flexibility and permits it to adjust itself more easily to changing conditions.

In Philadelphia, you make everything that a person wears, from socks to hats, as well as every kind of textile used in the home, including bedding, hangings, carpets and upholstery fabrics. When we walk along the street and note the numerous kinds of neckties men wear, and we look at their suits and find nearly every man has a different shade, or a different design or a different weave; and when we see the infinite variety of women's clothing, we can well realize why we have so many smaller firms specializing in particular fields.

With the advent of artificial fibers such as rayon and nylon, and different plastic and glass yarns which are being made today, it is very evident that the industry needs more and more technically trained people to properly serve our public. Our system will provide them.

Small business concerns in the United States are the strength of our economy. They must be allowed to grow and flourish. We do not want governmental interference, and we need not have it if big business management does the right thing. This also applies to big labor. Big business, big labor, and big government can all help, but they must apply the Golden Rule to business. We know that little business, little labor, and little local government made America. They must not be destroyed.

Your Foundation has an enviable reputation. It is the foremost institution of its kind in the United States. Most of its students come from the surrounding territory, but many are from other states and some are from other nations. The Philadelphia Textile Institute is now in its sixty-fourth year. It is stronger than at any previous time in its history, but it needs to expand further by reason of the competition confronting us.

It will play a part not only in aiding the textile industry, but in helping the United States to retain the free enterprise system. And that can help to save the world.

We want men who want freedom. They are the great producers. Former Governor Henry J. Allen, of Kansas, made the following comment about Abraham Lincoln which is well applied to our free enterprise system. He said:

"Had Abraham Lincoln been living today—The Rotary Club would supply him with a set of books. The Lions Club with a good reading lamp. The Cosmopolitan Club with writing equipment. The Kiwanis Club with a wooden floor for the cabin. He would have the protection of the child labor law and government old-age insurance. A kind philanthropist would send him to college with a scholarship. Incidentally, a case worker would see that his father received a monthly check from the county. The OPA would reduce his rent by 50%. He would receive a subsidy for rail spitting; another one for raising some crop he was going to raise anyway; and still another subsidy for not raising a crop he had no intention of raising.

"Result: There would have been no Abraham Lincoln."

If Abraham Lincoln were living, he would compete today as he did in his generation; and he would succeed. He knew that we got out of life just what we put into it. Let us keep the door of opportunity open so that men can earn their own security.

The Philadelphia Textile Institute was founded for that purpose. Private institutions help to preserve our freedoms. We all have obligations as Americans. It is more important that we live up to them than that we spend our time demanding our rights.

Unusual Courage, Integrity, Faith Are Required, Says St. Mary's Headmistress

der one's own will or desire to a purpose outside one's self.

"As we grow in such an experience we achieve maturity. It is then we must begin to share our experiences and our beliefs with others."

The "passive" adult, Miss Newbold asserted, has little of outstanding value to contribute to a girl's development, nor has the "dictatorial" type who enjoys running things and can plan a fine program, but does all the thinking for the girls she is supposed to be helping.

The "creative" leader, however, shares her responsibilities with girls and persuades them to make their own decisions.

"This type of leader is more like a coach in a basketball game," Miss Newbold said. "She is on the sidelines, directing, helping, building up morale. She is successful as she makes herself increasingly unnecessary to the group."

The first requirement for such leadership, Miss Newbold asserted, is "a quiet unquestioning faith in the power of God and the ultimate working out of His purpose for the world."

"SAINTS" PROVE TOO STRONG FOR CHESTER BEARS

Ground Attack of Local Team Better Than The Visitors' Aerial Attack

FINAL SCORE IS 24 TO 6

Visitors' Passing Caused Plenty of Vexation For St. Ann's

The ground attack of the St. Ann's team proved better than the West Chester Bears' aerial attack last night on the high school field as the Saints chalked up their third win of the season by a 24-6 score.

The visitors' passing game caused the Purple and Gold plenty of worry early in the tilt as their two lanky ends, Foster and Pinkington, leaped high into the air to snatch passes for long gains. However, late in the game, the St. Ann's defense was prepared for passes and intercepted two for touchdowns.

One of the interceptions was made by "Stan" Lelinski who ran 45 yards to score. It was the longest run of the tilt with Lelinski getting away from two would-be tacklers on the 15 yard line.

St. Ann's touchdowns, in addition to the one registered by Lelinski were made by "Reds" Feole, "Nickie" Lomma, and Paul Caucci. "Carm" Gullatto, stellar St. Ann's tackle was mostly responsible for the first touchdown. Following the opening kickoff, Lelinski made two nice runs for first downs to bring the ball from the 15 to the 40. Chichiletti on the fourth down kicked to the West Chester 12. On the first play, Smith fumbled and Gullatto recovered on the nine. Spencer brought the ball to the one-yard line on two plays and Feole carried it over.

The first sign of the Chester "air" attack was evidenced after the kickoff as Miller rifled a pass to Pinkington for a first down on the St. Ann's 48. But St. Ann's held and Pinkington was pulled out of the line to boot to the St. Ann's 10. After a first down, Chichiletti quick-kicked to the Bears' 9 yard line. Smith got off on an end run to bring the ball to the 30. A pass, Smith to Foster was good for a first at mid-field but the Bristol team held for downs. St. Ann's kicked back to their 48 yard line.

Smith heaved a pass to Corbett for a first on St. Ann's 35 and on the fourth down Pinkington faked a kick and passed to Foster for a first down on St. Ann's 21. After three plays failed, Miller pitched a pass to Foster who was downed on the three-yard line. Miller carried the ball over, following a penalty which put the ball on the one-yard line.

With the score deadlocked at 6-6 St. Ann's started another match late in the second period. The run-back took the pigskin to the 45. Spencer ripped off eight yards and then made it a first on the Bears' 42. On an end-about play, Keyes carried the ball to the 25. Lomma and Lelinski took the ball to the 14 and after Pappaterra was tossed for a 5-yard loss, Lelinski passed to Keyes. Keyes was given the catch after a West Chester player interfered. The ball was on the three-yard line. Two plays failed to gain and on the third try, the pass from center was high and rolled back to the 15-yard line. Lomma picked up the ball and ran along the sidelines to score the touchdowns without a hand being laid on him.

The third session was mostly an exchange of punts with neither team threatening, although two long passes, Smith to Foster and Smith to Pinkington, put the Bears as far as the 15-yard line before Lomma broke up the attack with an interception.

The fourth quarter started after the interception and Lelinski broke loose for a first down on the 37. Two plays failed and Stan kicked to the Bears' 40. On the first play, Lelinski intercepted a pass to score. Following the kickoff, West again went into the air from their 20. This time, Paul Caucci got in front of one and scored without trouble, making the final count 24-6, as the Saints failed on all their extra-point tries.

Lelinski and Lomma starred in the backfield with Campbell, Profy, Iannucci, and Gullatto playing a nice game in the line.

Smith, backfield ace of the visitors, did some nice passing and ran for several good gains. Smith was injured late in the fracas and left the game.

St. Ann's will play another night game next Wednesday, meeting the Langhorne Aces, on the high school field.

County will include three groups of 10; each to be selected from Bucks, Lehigh, Montgomery, Lancaster, Berks and Lebanon Counties. The pilgrimages scheduled from these counties are being organized by Mrs. F. Charles McKenna, of Reading.

Tours of the same park also will be made by two groups of equal size chosen from Philadelphia, Chester and Delaware counties. They will be led by Mrs. Humbert B. Powell, of Devon, and Mrs. Francis Lewis and Mrs. Stephen Haas, both of Philadelphia.

The five scheduled trips will be held on separate days Monday through Friday of "Pennsylvania Week." Those taking part will converge upon the park in private cars.

As guests of the Department of Forests and Waters, the visiting women will be met at the park by a guide who will take them to the various points of scenic and historic interest. Among the things to be seen is the site of Hopewell Village, where cannon was made for the Revolutionary Armies.

They also will hear informal descriptions of other recreational facilities made available by the Commonwealth to Pennsylvanians and out-of-state visitors in the southeastern section of the State.

An out-coming speaker from the State will be at the park each day to address the visitors on the recreational, industrial, scenic, historical and economic resources of their respective communities. Questionnaires will be distributed, asking their opinions as to how improvements may be made in State parks. Those filling in forms will reply as representatives of their clubs and organizations.

ward to college should select their program of studies with a view to meeting entrance examinations. The United States office of Education has pointed out recently that the crowded college conditions will continue for another decade or more. A few years ago Edward M. Martin, then Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania released a statement to the press in which he said that in the very near future 30% of our high school graduates in Pennsylvania will look forward to being admitted to college. If this is true then only those students whose high school grades reveal the ability to maintain good standing in college will be admitted.

"It is gratifying to note that a number of institutions of higher learning have evaluated secondary schools on the basis of the quality of the teaching staff and the program of studies. One of the institutions recently accrediting the Langhorne-Middletown high school is Cornell University. Students whose grades in the high school are C or better will be admitted to Cornell University on the basis of the recommendations of the administrative office. Many other leading colleges and universities will accept graduates of the Langhorne-Middletown high school if they rank in the upper third of their class scholastically."

WOOL-PRODUCING IN STATE ON DECLINE*Appears Headed For Near Extinction Within Another Decade Is Claim*1947, ALL-TIME LOW

By JACK WARD

I. N. S. Pennsylvania Farm Editor
HARRISBURG, Oct. 2 — Pennsylvania's wool-producing industry is on the decline and appeared headed today for near-extinction within another decade.

The Department of Agriculture said an all-time low of 1,642,000 pounds of wool had been clipped this year from 216,000 sheep. The 1936-45 average was 2,621,000 pounds while 1946 clippings yielded 1,786,000 pounds.

At the close of the Civil War
Pennsylvania farms had nearly 3-million sheep and the industry then was a major phase of the state's agriculture, by 1900 sheep numbers had dropped to less than 1,000,000, largely due to the lowering of tariffs on wool in the early 80's, officials said.

Visitors to the 1948 edition of the colorful Pennsylvania farm show will not only see one of the outstanding agricultural exhibitions in the nation but will have the experience of walking on a scientifically constructed "easy on the feet" floor.

Four acres of new flooring will provide visitors with "new walking pleasure" when the five day exposition opens January 12.

Hard concrete which made farm show visitors tired after the first mile or two of walking through exhibits, is being covered with a massive asphalt base upon which Spanish red asphalt tile are being set.

Nearly one-third of a million pieces of the tile, each three-six-teenths of an inch in thickness, will be required to complete the new flooring job. A minimum of dust is assured.

Eighteen outstanding Aberdeen-Angus herds from 12 Pennsylvania counties will be represented at the association's fifth annual sale in Harrisburg Sept. 27 at the State
Farm Show building.

Samuel O'Sullivan, of Virginia, has been designated auctioneer according to Sales Manager James F.
Torrance, of export.

Farmers' retail markets, which have existed for 150 years in some cases, are on the increase in Pennsylvania, according to W. R. Whitacre, of Pennsylvania State College.
In a recent study conducted by the Department of Agricultural Economics and rural sociology, 49 of the state's 82 organized markets were surveyed.

Whitacre reports that retail farmers' markets have been successful largely because of the variety of fresh, attractive produce provided directly to customers. Patrons placed "freshness" at the top of the list for the chief feature attracting them to former markets.

During the last 20 years, seven new outdoor markets and 10 indoor farmer markets were established in communities of Pennsylvania. Numerous other towns are considering opening such markets.

New developments and research in the frozen food industry will be discussed in detail as a feature of the third annual frozen food conference to be held Oct. 27 and 28
at the Pennsylvania State College Prof. R. U. Blasingame, department head, is in charge of arrangements for the meetings, open to any persons interested in any aspect of frozen foods. Numerous locker plant operators are expected to attend the conferences, along with those interested in home freezers and farm storage plants.

The Spider's Web

—by—
SAMUEL B. PETTENGILL
"The Gentleman from Indiana"

The savage attack on the United States by Vishinsky, Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister, has surprised only those who have insisted that Communist policy is something else than Communism have openly stated it to be. Only those with a "simplicity quite out of this world" (to quote Australia's Ambassador to the United States) could ever have believed in the good faith of Communists.

Communism is a "world revolutionary movement." They have said that time and again. Plainly!

Vishinsky used the platform of the United Nations as a world-wide sounding board for his propaganda. The United Nations Assembly is a parliament (a place for talk). How do the Soviets use these places for talk? Work within the parliaments consists chiefly in making revolutionary propaganda from the parliamentary platform. (This is from the "Theses and Statutes of the Communist International.") Didn't anybody in Washington ever read that?

It is necessary to use any ruse, cunning, unlawful method, evasion, concealment of the truth" (Lepin) How did this escape the eagle eyes of our experts in Washington?

"Words must have no relation to actions... otherwise what kind of diplomacy is it?" Sincere diplomacy is no more possible than dry water or whodden iron," as Stalin said. Didn't Roosevelt, Hull, Byrnes, Austin, Wilkie, or Truman ever read this?

Haven't it been as plain as Pike's Peak for years now that Russia is "the center of international revolution... the base of a world movement" to quote their very words? To succeed, wasn't it necessary for the Communists to shackle the hands of those who would oppose this "world movement"? Why, of course. So our naive statesmen proceeded to thrust their eager hands into the shackles.

The United Nations, plus the veto, was the perfect shackle to suit their purpose. Thus Stalin, the spider, wove his web. To be in a position to veto the majority is the very core and aim of Soviet membership in the United Nations. Result: Twenty vetoes, so far, and "the very life of the United Nations is at stake," as the French Minister, Bidault, says. Just another case where "the United States never lost a war, or won a peace conference," as Will Rogers would say.

We now blame Molotov for using the veto we put in his hands. Roosevelt championed the veto. And perhaps he was right in a way he did not intend or foresee. For if Communism overruns Europe and Asia to the point where a majority of the votes in the United Nations are in Stalin's pocket, we may need the veto ourselves.

Secretary Marshall says that "only one in five Americans knows what is meant by the veto." It means that nothing except talk can be done by the United Nations unless the Big Five members of the Security Council (Russia, Britain, France, China and the United States) are unanimous. It is like a jury in a criminal case. Any one of the twelve jurymen can veto a verdict. The veto means that the United Nations cannot act at all if Russia (or any of the five) says No. Not even if all of the rest of the 51 nations are unanimous. It means that no action but talk can be taken against any one of the five, or any smaller power whose cause is championed by any one of the five. Just that Period.

At San Francisco practically every small nation objected to the veto, but all were overridden by the Big Five. Serious men in the United States pointed out the fatal virus that was being poured into the veins of the new-born babe. They said it wouldn't live as long as its predecessor, the League of Nations. But they were pool-pooled. Victory and vodka were on the Big Five's lips!

Faith Clarke's SHOPPING TIPS FOR BUDGETEERS

THIS IS LUCKY week for us Budgeteers because Fall Snellenburg Week began on October 1st! Wonderful bargains are fairly sprouting all over this thrifty store. To begin with, let me tell you about the brand new collection of junior miss suits regularly priced at from $29.50 to $39.50 but reduced for Snellenburg Week to $22. The suits are beautifully styled and tailored from snappy Glen plaid, worsteds, etc., in all the new fall colors and mixtures. Sizes 9 to 15. (2nd fl.)

BOYS LOVE 'EM—the snappy navy blue pea-coats, regularly priced at $11.95 to $15.95, that the Snellenburg Boys' Center is offering, for Snellenburg Week, at the low price of $9.55. These wind and weather resistant coats are for boys about 8 to 18 years. Nicely tailored, of 32 oz. Melton cloth, the coats have high, snug collars, handy pockets, warm linings, anchor buttons. The sturdy material is 100% reprocessed wool. Why not hide away these coats for Christmas giving? (3rd fl.)

SPORTS DRESSES, fall casuals in rayon gabardine, spun rayon, wool, in misses' sizes, have a Snellenburg Week price of $7.75 instead of $10.95, and nice they are. You'll find softly tailored classics, one and two-piece styles, the new shirtwaist styles that are "musts." Sizes include 12 to 20, 16 1/2 to 22 1/2. At this price one can have two or three. (Sports Dresses 2nd fl.)

THE 2ND FLOOR Dress Departments of Snellenburgs are offering an unbelievable number of astounding "buys" to celebrate Fall Snellenburg Week. Let me name a few—new misses' size dresses, in all wanted materials, with the latest tunics, peplums, push-up and other sleeves, etc. are temporarily priced at $11, instead of their regular prices of $13.95 to $16.95. Materials include rayon failles, crepes, moires, wools, etc., in latest colors. Women's dresses, 16 1/2 to 24 1/2, dressy or plain, are at the same low price instead of $13.95 to $16.95. Junior Miss dresses, delightfully fashioned of rayon and wool, including failles, gabardines, etc., and regularly priced at $14.95 to $16.95, also have a Snellenburg Week price of only $11. You'll find treasure trove in these Second Floor Dress Departments! (2nd fl.)

P.S. Do send clippings with mail orders when you can! Phone free (5c, 10c, and 15c out-of-town calls only). Penna.—ENT. 10160; Jersey—WX-1150. Shop located Market, 11th to 12th Sts., Phila.—through to 1125-29 Chestnut St. Be hearin' from you! Faithfully, FAITH.

MAKE XMAS PLANS FOR MILITARY PERSONNEL

Gaily-Wrapped Packages
Will Not Be Missing For Those on High Seas

RED CROSS ARRANGES

Gaily-wrapped Christmas packages will not be missing from the December 25th celebrations of military personnel who will be on the high seas at that time, if present plans of the Southeastern Pennsylvania Chapter Red Cross committee on Community Service to Camps and Hospitals carry any weight.

This was made clear by Mrs. John L. Larzelere, chairman of the Red Cross committee on Services to Camps and Hospitals. Mrs. Larzelere reported reassuring evidence of understanding on the part of local people that large numbers of gifts will be needed to insure the traditional gifts-under-the-Christmas-tree on every ship on every ocean where American military and Navy personnel are forced to spend Christmas.

Gift packages should consist of one article of good quality, Mrs. Larzelere said, such as cigarette lighter, fountain pen, leather wallet, photograph folder, or some similar item. The addition of one or two small items such as hard candy or cigarettes is optional, she said. Each package should be attractively wrapped, but the local Red Cross Chapter is prepared to take care of that if the donor doesn't have the time.

Since all gifts must be placed aboard ships at ports of embarkation during the fall months, and since no gift may reach port later than November 1st, Mrs. Larzelere pointed out that the gifts must be in season and that early choosing would be necessary if the goal of 15,000 gifts was to be reached.

Groups or individuals wishing to participate in this "Christmas on the High Seas" are urged to send their Christmas boxes, together with a personal Christmas card enclosed to Lower Bucks County Branch, American Red Cross, Community House, Langhorne, or to the following members of the Camp and Hospital Committee:

Bristol: Mrs. Julius Sobel, 214 Jefferson avenue.

Langhorne: Philip Lewis, N. Bellevue avenue.

Morrisville: Mrs. Earl Marsh, 1113 Ohio avenue.

Newtown: Mrs. William F. Morlok, Jr., S. Chancellor street.

Southampton: Mrs. A. W. Hoelscher, Huntington Valley.

Yardley: Miss Helen McCarthy, 69 Pennsylvania avenue.

Let us give our boys on ship a Christmas to remember.

Home Field Saturday;
Oppose Newtown

Still seeking its first win of the season, Bristol High will travel to Pottstown tomorrow night to play the high school of that borough. Game will begin at 8.15 o'clock.

Coach McClister was satisfied with the showing of his minions against Trenton Catholic last Friday night but feels that there is still room for improvement. The "Bunnies" lost to Catholic, 7-6, after holding the lead most of the game.

The Bensalem Owls will open their home season, Saturday afternoon, meeting the Newtown Indians. As the new home gridiron of the Owls is not in shape, the contest will be played on the Bensalem school field, Bristol Pike, Cornwells Heights. Game will begin at two o'clock.

Coach "Woody" Wetherhold's lads lost to the Germantown Friends School last Saturday while Coach "Sage" Sagolia's Newtown team tripped the St. Francis Industrial School, 15-6.

Coach Wetherhold is contemplating on several changes in the Owls' line-up.

Coach "Mike" DeRisi's Langhorne High team will be after its initial win when it meets the George School eleven on Playwick field, Langhorne.

Langhorne lost to Riverside last week and had previously played a tied game with Falls Township.

The undefeated Fallsington Falcons will have stiff competition at Bordentown when it meets the Bordentown High team.

Falls beat Lower Moreland, 19-0, last Friday and also has a tied game to its credit.
